LO: I can plan a non-chronological report

What other rare, not yet discovered, creature could you write about?

Task

1. Visit this website - <https://www.switchzoo.com>

Click  and  .

Have fun creating a new animal to explore by blending zoo animals together! Once you have chosen your new discovery, print off your animal or draw it out into your book.

2. Let's get planning! Copy the boxed-up planner into your book to plan your facts. It has the same structure as the Rhiswanozebtah non-chronological report. Remember that this is your animal and you are the expert! Record your ideas in bullet points. If you need some help, look back at the model text and 'magpie' some words and phrases.

Name of animal	•
What is it? Introduce the animal	• •
Appearance What does it look like?	• •

Habitat Where does it live?	<ul style="list-style-type: none">••
Diet What does it eat?	<ul style="list-style-type: none">••
Talents What can it do?	<ul style="list-style-type: none">••
Fascinating fact	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•

Challenge Talk through your plan with someone at home; this will allow you to rehearse your ideas. Is the information clear? Do they have any questions about your newly-discovered creature? Edit your plan to ensure it has enough detail. It must also include language appropriate to the text type - distinct, inhabit, prominent etc. These improvements will help you to write your non-chronological report next week. 😊
