English

We are starting a new unit all about poetry structure. Look at these poems and decide what is the same and what is different.

What?

Wild howler

Night prowler

Free mealer

Chicken stealer

Earth liver

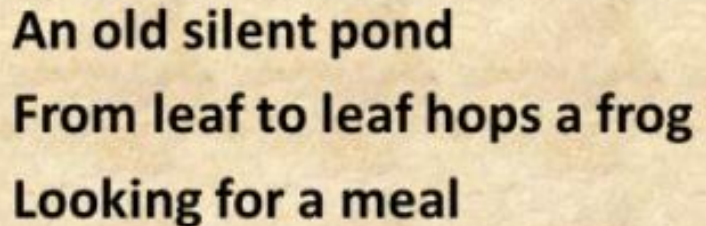

Fright giver

Rusty splasher

Hunted dasher

by Daphne Kitching

The Works 2, p. 405

An old silent pond
From leaf to leaf hops a frog
Looking for a meal

Hope

He sits at the bank

Still, like a watching heron.

Eyes ever forward,

Waiting to see the ripple

And feel the pull on his line.

See if you can explore what types of poems they are. If you have access to the internet try to find some other examples - here is a clue, look at the syllables in each line!

Read the text provided and answer these questions. Don't forget to answer in full sentences:

What do Palaeontologists study?

What replaces the skeleton of an animal to make a fossil?

What was the name of Mary Anning's dog?

Design and Technology

Today we are evaluating the product that we designed and made. If you do not have your pencil case with you, you will need to use your imagination a little.

My evaluation

- 1) My final design: (draw a picture of it)
- 2) How is it different to my original design?
- 3) What can I change to make my product even better?
- 4) Is my product fit for purpose? (is it a good size, does it do what it is supposed to to?)
- 5) What does my table partner think of my design?

It is fit for purpose?

-They would/would not use it because...

Does it match the design?

- Yes/No because...
