

Wednesday 20th January

Good morning Y5!

<https://www.brixington.devon.sch.uk/assemblies-and-whole-school-challenges/>

Have a look and see if there is a new assembly for today.

Today's learning will be.....

Your Word of the day is soluble. What does it mean? Can you use it in a sentence? Can you find an antonym (word that means the opposite)?

English-

We will carry on looking at past tense and how auxiliary verbs can change the tense of your writing!

Reading- The third lesson using 'The Listeners' poem. We will be looking at answering retrieval and inference questions about the text.

Spelling- Today's lesson follows on from the sorting lesson you did on Monday. You are going to be finding rules to help your spelling in this session. Understanding these rules is very important as you are going to apply this knowledge later in the week!

Maths- For maths today, we will be trying a live zoom session. This means you can follow the zoom link to join Mrs Batten and the Y5 children in school in a live lesson. Children will need to join at 11:05am and have a pencil and paper to hand. Please follow the Y5 Meetings link shared yesterday.

Science- Please follow this link for today's science. I have unfortunately been restricted to only 5 minutes so the children will need to stop and start the video to engage in the lesson. Hopefully, this will be sorted soon! There are resources on the website to use.
