

Thursday 14th May 2020 - Day 8

LO: I can write a different setting

Today, we are going to write our new problem set somewhere else. You will need the plan you created yesterday in front of you.

Task

1. Start with the first strange event in your different setting.

For example: Without warning, the wind picked up, their torch began to flicker and the tent collapsed.

2. Introduce the new threat.

For example: Looming overhead, a shadow, as wide as the field, let out a sudden metallic screech.

3. Describe what the threat does.

For example: The air shook violently as three piercing lasers flooded the ground in front of their sleeping bags.

#Challenge Practise reading your work aloud. Use intonation and expression to bring it to life and remember that pauses are effective too! Share it with someone at home. Can they suggest a change or an additional idea to make it even better?
