Words of the Week

Complete at least 2 Frayer Models (Center Activity -- The Frayer Model Explained - YouTube)

Dehydrated

Alleviate

Gullible

Tragedy

Bamboozle

Maths

Today, you will be learning how to convert two units of length - miles and kilometres. Miles are an imperial unit of measurement and kilometres (as we know) are metric. Therefore, converting them is a little more involved than just multiplying and dividing by powers of 10.

Please watch the White Rose Maths instruction video titled: 'Miles and Kilometres'. The link is here: Spring Week 7 - Measurement: Converting Units | White Rose Maths

Now have a go at the easy/medium/hard worksheet. Extension activities are also available if you finish - only spend time on the extension activity until the end of the hour long maths lesson! E.g. if you have been working for 40 minutes (including the video) then just do 20 minutes of the extension activities - you do not need to complete these!

English

For today's lesson, the children will be finishing their biography about a World War 2 leader. Follow the Loom to see a recap about the passive voice, quotations and ISPACE, as well as an example of what your writing could look like.
